

Kentucky Cancer Program District Cancer Council Fall Meetings 2015

Established in 1982 by the Kentucky General Assembly, the Kentucky Cancer Program is the state cancer control program with a unique network of 13 regional offices across the state. The mission is to reduce cancer incidence and mortality through education, research and service. KCP is jointly administered by the Brown Cancer Center at the University of Louisville and the Markey Cancer center at the University of Kentucky.

The Kentucky Cancer program works with District Cancer Councils along with state and local partners to identify cancer problems, mobilize communities, and implement programs for cancer prevention, early detection and survivorship.

Following is a list of scheduled District Cancer Council Meetings, listed alphabetically by Area Development District. For more information, contact the Regional Cancer Control Specialist.
