

UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY RESEARCH COMMUNITY HEALTH WORKER TRAINING

Are you interested in learning how you can help improve the health of your community?

This training will teach you what it means to be a Community Health Worker and provide you with skills to teach people in your community about healthy living.

- You will learn about public health and how to:
communicate with people about basic health topics, provide support for people who want to improve their health, find community health resources, etc.
- Before and after the training, you will be asked to complete an anonymous survey about what you learned.
- Trainees will be eligible to serve as a Community Health Worker and receive payment for delivering a cancer education program in their community.

Who can attend? Anyone 18 years or older with at least a high school education and ability to read and write in English.

Day/Date: Saturday March 30, 2019 Time: 8:30 AM-3:00 PM

Place: Owensboro Health Healthpark located at 1006 Ford Ave, Owensboro, KY 42301

Lunch will be provided.

Participation is free, but space is limited to 25 people.

For more information and to register please contact:

Lovoria Williams, PhD, RN, at 859-323-5579 or Lovoria.Williams@uky.edu, or María L. Gómez, DrPH, MPH, at 859-323-6105 or Maria.Gomez@uky.edu

An Equal Opportunity University

For more information on research studies see: www.UKclinicalresearch.com